Farm Bloc Leaders to Offer Ag Aid Program

FOOD SHORTAGE FEAR PROMPTS PLAN IN SENATE

LABOR ALSO CONSIDERED

Leaders Frankly Worried
Over Sufficient Crops
To Meet War Needs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Farm bloc leaders, openly fearful that this country may face a food shortage, today disclosed that they have formulated a five-point program which they will strive to put into effect in the next congress.

Headed by Chairman Fulmer (D) S. C., of the house agriculture committee, the bloc's goal is described as one of expediency rather than of long-range planning. The aim, according to Fulmer, is to solve current problems which are impeding the production of food.

The program follows:

1. A campaign to obtain increased gasoline rations for farmers.
2. A clearer-cut policy for deserting farm labor from service in the armed forces.
3. Inclusion of farm-labor costs in the computation of parity in fixing price ceilings.
4. Adequate machinery and implements for agricultural uses.
5. A guaranteed supply of fertilizer.

Farm leaders are frankly worried about the prospects of turning out sufficient crops next year to meet war demands. They claim one or all of the problems which they will attack are obstacles in the paths of most farmers regardless of what region of the country they are in.

Most of the complaints which congressmen are receiving concerning gasoline rations are from farmers who claim they are not getting enough gas to get their produce to market.

Acute Labor Shortage

The farm labor shortage is admittedly acute, and farm bloc members are insisting that greater leniency be shown by local district boards in granting deferments, and that farm labor costs be figured into the establishment of price ceilings. A bill to carry out the (Continued on Page Two)

Allies Seek Means to Frighten Nazis Into Halting Jew Murders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—The United States, Great Britain and Russia today are trying to find words of condemnation strong enough to frighten the Nazis into easing up on their persecution of the Jews in Europe, especially in Poland.

Discussions are underway between the three allied powers concerning the issuance of a joint United Nations declaration condemning the Jewish persecutions and warning the Nazis that they will be brought to justice for their crime.

The difficulty is in finding language which will be sufficiently strong to impress the Nazis.

Great Britain is taking the lead in this latest move to condemn Nazi outrages against the Jews and the joint declaration may be issued in London.

Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff has discussed the matter with the state department. Russia favors punishment of the axis war criminals as soon as they are captured rather than wait until the end of the war to try them before an international court of justice.

Russ Would Act Now
The Soviet government believes the more immediate course of action would serve as a greater deterrent to Nazi brutality than waiting until the end of the war to punish those known to be guilty of atrocities.

The American and British governments, however, fear that punishment of axis war criminals during the conflict might lead to mass reprisals against innocent allied war prisoners held by the enemy.

One of the difficulties confronting the allied governments is the problem of gathering authentic evidence of the extent to which the Jews are now being persecuted.

Widespread Persecution

There is no doubt in the mind of allied officials that there is widespread persecution but it is difficult to ascertain definitely whether Adolf Hitler has ordered a new wave of extermination.

A report submitted to President Roosevelt by American Jewish organizations last week estimated that almost 2,000,000 Jews in Nazi Europe already have been exterminated through mass murder, planned starvation, deportation, slave labor and epidemic in the disease-ridden ghettos.

This report said that as a result of these combined methods of extermination, the Jewish population of 13 countries of Europe has been reduced by 50 percent since 1939.

The report also claimed that the number of Jews in Germany has been reduced from 200,000 in 1939 to 40,000 in 1942.

BOARD TO MAP PROGRAM FOR MUNITION POOL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—A special joint committee set up to supervise pooling of the steel resources and munitions-making facilities of the United States, Britain and Canada, today planned to hold its first meeting within the next few days.

The Office of War Information announced that "the steel production and munitions-making facilities of the three nations will be considered by the committee as though they were one single unit, to the end that the maximum impact of weapons of war can be brought against the enemy."

Hiland G. Batcheller, chief of WPB's iron and steel division, was named chairman of the new seven-member committee, composed of American, British and Canadian production experts.

Creation of the committee resulted from a U. S. steel mission to Britain in August. Following a survey, the mission reported that improved production could be obtained by pooling difficult information, production and distribution methods.

In addition to these duties, the committee will investigate means of increasing steel output and of obtaining the most efficient use of steel in the combined war production program in 1943.

Transport Meets End When

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15—A report that the converted transport President Coolidge, reported sunk by a Japanese mine in the Pacific, was really sent to the bottom by collision with two American mines, was made public today by J. Hugh Jackson. Jackson is dean of the Stanford University School of Business and a director of the President Lines which owned the ship.

"The President Coolidge was lost because of an error," Jackson said. "When she reached the entrance to a harbor, two United States destroyers were outside the harbor."

"Her captain stopped and asked if the harbor was all right. He was told there was nothing to worry about. His ship ploughed into that harbor and struck two American mines."

Another version, Jackson said, was that the Coolidge got a warning signal to stop and that the ship did not stop her engines, but that tide and momentum drove her forward into the mines.

Jackson, who also is governor of California-Nevada department of the Kiwanis club, first reported his version of the Coolidge sinking (Continued on Page Two)

HOT RECEPTION PREPARED FOR JAPS IN INDIA

MADRAS, India, Dec. 15—The Japanese will get a warm reception if they attempt to invade India, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of allied forces, declared on arrival in Madras from Ceylon following an inspection trip.

"The picture is much different than it was several months ago," Gen. Wavell said. "Thanks to the strength of armored troops now defending the country the threat to India is much less. Things will be different now."

Gen. Wavell flew to Ceylon for talks with senior staff officers of the Ceylon command. He was accompanied by Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse.

(The Indian government has warned against Japanese spies who may be landed in the country from the air at remote points along the coast or overland through Burma. Large rewards have been offered for any spies rounded up.)

SINGING MAYOR OF MILWAUKEE MISSING AT SEA

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 15—Mayor Carl F. Zeidler of Milwaukee, who obtained a leave of absence last April to join the navy, today was reported missing in action.

Zeidler, 34, a lieutenant junior grade, was in charge of a gun crew on a merchant vessel. Notification that he was missing came to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Zeidler, in a telegram from Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of naval personnel in Washington, D. C. The telegram said:

"The navy department regrets to inform you that your son, Lieut. Carl Frederick Zeidler, U. S. naval reserve, is missing in the performance of his duty and the service of his country."

Zeidler, known as the "singing mayor" because of his singing during the election campaign, defeated Socialist Daniel W. Hoan who had been mayor 24 years.

Air Force Expert Hints At Secret Weapons to Rain Death on Axis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Records of a Senate Military Affairs subcommittee today contained a vivid picture of how the army translates lessons of the battlefield into new and improved weapons of destruction.

Broadly hinting that secret weapons are being developed to rain destruction on axis enemies, Maj. Gen. O. P. Echols of the Army Air Force, and Col. William A. Borden, of the armored force, told of experts traveling by airplane between the United States and far-flung battlefields.

Gen. Echols explained that a system has been set up by which defects in planes or improvements needed as a result of actual battle conditions can be made in remarkably short time.

Already, he said, 3,000 airplanes have been modified after leaving factory production lines in order to incorporate improvements asked by commanders of air forces in the field.

Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold of the army air force has established a special section to speed the work. Commanding officers in the field can cable suggestions and officers traveling to foreign fields personally bring back recommendations, the committee was told.

He explained that Gen. Arnold has set a time limit for action on suggestions. To assure commanders in the field that their suggestions will not be buried in red tape, Gen. Arnold has issued instructions that replies be cabled to them.

Gen. Echols praised the work done at the army's great experimental center at Wright field, Ohio. He hinted that the United States may soon send bigger and faster bombers against axis powers, using lessons learned in construction of the $3,000,000 Douglas B-19 bomber—the biggest airplane ever built at the time.

"As a result of the information gained from this experiment, the air forces and the aircraft industry have been able to undertake with confidence the design and production of bombers of sizes previously considered impracticable," he said.

Col. Borden said the army ordnance department has over 500 laboratories working on over 1,000 projects.

Food Ration Is Favored By Wickard

Secretary Of Agriculture
Also Approves Subsidies
To Boost Production

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, acting in his dual role as food administrator, today maintained that he approves nationwide food rationing but charged that "congress just won't grant the funds" to put it into effect.

Wickard addressed farm leaders of the eleven northeastern states and also held a two-hour press conference during which he discussed various plans to meet war-time food demands.

He said he approved subsidies to maintain production and favored increased prices to achieve the same objective in the event subsidies could not be provided.

Wickard outlined to the assembled agricultural leaders a plan which would carry the department's farm production goals individually to the nation's 6,500,000 farms. He stressed that to meet military, civilian, lend-lease and occupation territory relief in 1943 "we must utilize every acre of land, every machine and every hour."

The food administrator emphasized at his press conference that despite some shortages "America will remain the best fed nation in the world," he warned however, "that when people get panicky it is hard to deal with them."

He admitted there might have been "some bungling" of the food problem but added that he has some definite ideas on an educational program to bring the food facts to the public.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

New York had a newspaper delivery strike Monday and it was hours before anybody knew what happened to Dagwood and Blondie.

The radio had Rommel out of El Aghelia, but 7,000,000 people worried about the fate of Joe Palooka, suspected as a spy in England.

Now "Brokenhearted" never will get the parcel of advice Dorothy Dix handed her and if "Self-conscious" picks up the wrong fork at the next public dinner he can thank the Delivery Union for holding up Emily Post's solution to his problem.

Millions of commuters discovered for the first time that there are faces behind the newspapers which push on the subway at every stop.

And car cards got the most thorough reading they've ever gotten since car card advertising was instituted.

The strike also was responsible for some tardiness. One man who always reaches Lexington avenue and page 38 of his paper at the same time rode two extra stations with no sports page to guide him.

Thought for the day: Give us our daily bread and wrap it in the morning paper.

YOUTH LEADS DAD INTO CRIME; BOTH ARRESTED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—Claude Wilson, 49, was under a 10-year federal penitentiary sentence today following his confession he had gone along with his 17-year-old son on postoffice robbing sprees to see that the youth did not do "too many wrong things."

Wilson said when he learned his son, Calvin, was robbing postoffices, he thought he'd better go along to keep the boy from going too far.

Calvin likewise admitted he had "led" his father into crime.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Aiming a knockout blow at a new Japanese airfield in the central Solomons, American dive bombers, flying fortresses and fighter planes have attacked enemy installations for the fifth successive day on New Georgia island, the navy revealed today.

Two separate attacks were made December 14.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox intimated today that American forces are determined soon to wipe out Japanese now occupying a strategic new airfield on New Georgia island, only 150 miles northeast of Guadalcanal.

Warning that he could not discuss possible future operations in the Solomons area, Knox at his press conference made it clear that U. S. forces are in control of the situation in the central Solomons.

"The activities (of our forces) show we are watching the place pretty closely," Knox said.

American army bombers from Guadalcanal and other bases in the South Pacific have been pounding the recently completed Jap airfield on New Georgia in an obvious drive to oust or annihilate the enemy forces in this strategic central Solomons area.

Japs Land Troops

By International News Service
A report that Japanese reinforcements in undetermined numbers have been landed on the island of New Guinea near recaptured Buna reached Sydney today as General Douglas MacArthur's American and Australian troops continued mopping-up operations and Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreat into Tripolitania proceeded under a rain of allied bombs and shells.

The Sydney report gave no indication as to whether the new Japanese landing constituted any kind of a serious threat. It was not thought likely, however, that Japan could stem the tide of United Nations conquest with any comparatively small number of reinforcing troops pushed through the allied blockade.

CHILD TO EAT FIRST MEAL IN THREE YEARS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15—Tiny Wilma Lee Crumby, who hasn't tasted a bit of food for three of her five years, today was promised a luscious turkey dinner for Christmas.

Daughter of a Frostproof, Fla., farmhand, Wilma is in the bronchoscopic ward at Jefferson hospital because, at the age of two, she accidentally ate some lye, which closed the esophagus—the tube which carries food from the mouth to the stomach.

Physicians at Bartow, Fla., were forced to feed her through a special tube directly into the stomach until the Kiwanis club became interested and sent her to Philadelphia for treatment designed by Dr. Chevalier Jackson, inventor of the bronchoscope.

The treatment was long and painful. It consisted of inserting a tube into the esophagus to stretch it and yesterday the courageous youngster received food through her mouth for the first time in years.

By Christmas, hospital officials believe, she will be ready for a great big turkey dinner—and she's going to get as much as she can eat.

ports from Elzerte on the north to Sfax on the east coast of the French protectorate. Tunis and Bizerte were heavily bombed in daylight attacks. Ground action was limited to light patrol actions.

Russians Advance

The Russian advance gathered momentum after furious enemy counter attacks were halted on all fronts. German forces were driven from factory buildings within Stalingrad Soviet columns moved ahead northwest and southwest of the city.

In the European theatre, Royal Air Force planes bombed axis rail communications in occupied Europe, and in retaliation German craft bombed northeast English coast towns.

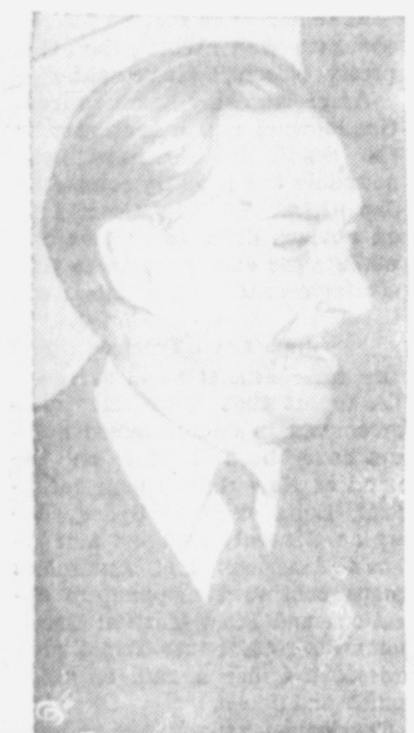

With all signs pointing to eventual allied victory in Tunisia and as chances of any successful stand by Rommel anywhere in Libya receded with each passing hour, a survey of recent events since the tide of the war changed in favor of the allies presented an enlightening if not astonishing picture.

Despite the tremendous territorial losses in the far east which followed Japan's entry into the war a year ago, the British empire and the United States actually have gained immeasurably in territories liberated from real or potential axis domination and in populations brought into the orbit of freedom and democracy.

Excluding certain minor pin points such as Wake, Guam and the Andaman Islands in the Indian ocean, here is a tabulation of territories lost since the war began:

- Burma—261,610 square miles.
- The Philippines—115,029 square miles.
- Borneo—29,500 square miles.
- Hong Kong—354 square miles.
- Malaya—51,866 square miles.
- The Channel Islands—75 square miles.
- Total territory lost—453,431 square miles.

"An investigation is in progress on the sinking," Knox stated. "The Coolidge went down in the Solomons area."

TWO SOLDIERS, GROCER JAILED IN SUGAR THEFT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15—Two army truck drivers and a grocer today were held in $5,000 bond each following their arrest by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on charges of stealing and receiving wholesale lots of military sugar, coffee and other supplies.

The soldiers were detailed to hauling goods to Camp McQuade. They are Corporal Herman Eisenberg, 33, New York, and Private Virgil Stevens, 25, Alpena, Mich.

H. C. Van Pelt, assistant special agent of the FBI, said it was the custom of the soldiers on their way to deliver the supplies to stop off at a Castroville grocery operated by Luigi Giosso, 48, and sell him stores which they had stolen. Van Pelt said the grocer afterward sold the goods without ration cards.

The FBI said a large quantity of government goods marked "U. S. property" had been found in Giosso's store.

last objective already has been passed by the House but is stymied in the Senate.

Some farm leaders believe that increased prices are the only solution. One spokesman, Rep. Hope of Kansas, ranking Republican on the house agriculture committee, is particularly irate over the present government policy of keeping prices down by subsidizing middlemen as well as farmers.

"What the administration is actually trying to do is to subsidize everybody just to keep the price of a commodity down a cent or two," Hope says. "We are going to have to put a stop to this idea and let prices seek their normal level. The public pays in the end either way, and the people are entitled to know what their food is costing them."

MAN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH RETURNED HOME

Charles (Bob) Wolfe, Weldon avenue, who was severely cut and bruised Monday when the car in which he was riding collided with one driven by John Dunn, Columbus, was removed home Monday night from St. Francis hospital, where he had spent the day. Wolfe, enroute with several other Circleville men to the army depot, was cut on the lip, nose, ear and cheek. He lost much blood.

Car figuring in the crash was owned and driven by Floyd Giffen, Highland avenue, whose chest was bruised by the impact with the steering wheel. Others in the vehicle were Albert Crosby, East Union street, cut left hand; Melvin Wolfe, Weldon avenue, several bruises; William Temple, Clinton street, sprained ankle, and Tom Tatman, Clinton street, chin cut, ankle sprain and knee bruise.

WOMAN SUFFERS BURNS AS POLISH CATCHES FIRE

Circleville firemen played a dual role of firefighters and ambulance drivers at noon Tuesday when Mrs. Stanley Jackson, Weldon avenue, was injured in a fire at her home.

Mrs. Jackson was blacking a stove when the blacking polish caught fire. Her left hand and arm were severely burned.

After extinguishing the flames caused by the polish, firemen took Mrs. Jackson to Berger hospital for treatment.

26 DRAFTEES OF COUNTY PASS TEST FOR ARMY

All Return To Homes For Seven Day Furlough Before Training

GO TO FORT THOMAS

Some Of Other 14 In Group May Have Left At Once For Service

Twenty-six more Pickaway county men were accepted Monday by the army medical team in Columbus for service in Uncle Sam's army. All of the 26 returned home for furloughs of seven days, all reporting next Monday at the courthouse to leave for Fort Thomas, Ky.

Acting corporal of the outfit will be Ludwig Haacker, East High street, employee of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, who already has two brothers in service, Second Lieutenant Edwin Haacker of Fort Knox, Ky., and Second Lieutenant Hillaire Haacker of Seymour, Ind., air base.

Whether any more than 26 were accepted out of the 40 sent to Columbus is not known yet by the Selective Service board. Some of the youths were reported to have gone immediately to Fort Thomas, but whether they were starting their service at once or whether they were sent on for additional physical examination will not be known until the official acceptance list is received from the army team in Columbus.

Accepted were:

Circleville: Ludwig Haacker, Harold A. Resner, Henry R. Caudill, Robert E. Kibler, Richard Henn, John F. Montgomery, Russell F. Parker, Forrest C. Moss, Turney Owens, Mace B. Overly, Leo H. White, Olen Minshall, Gale K. Tigner, Merle Crosby, William F. Turner, Jesse F. Chandler and James A. Haney.

Commercial Point: Lawrence Birkhead.

Mount Sterling: Carl D. Martin.

Kingston: William E. Hunt, Charles E. Parker.

Williamsport: Francis H. Cook, Kirk Whitesed, Robert L. Stephens.

Derby: Pearl Puckett.

Chillicothe: Merle E. Davis.

Strangely, not a single draftee from Ashville or New Holland was taken in this group.

Another contingent of draftees will be sent to the induction station next week.

The December quota for Pickaway county is being sent short since the calls had been prepared by the local board prior to the order deferring all men over 38 years of age. Ten names were slashed from the list sent Monday.

Draft board received notice by mail Monday afternoon that Dwight Carroll Shaeffer of Marion, scheduled to report Monday for induction, had already enlisted in the navy at Toledo. He is a former resident of New Holland.

Nothing has been heard by the Selective Service board from Ernest Dagon of Circleville or Martin L. Horne of Portsmouth, neither of whom appeared as scheduled Monday.

Notice of enlistment of James Richard Carr of Circleville in the U. S. naval reserve, class V-5, was also received by the board.

EARLY MAILING REPORTED FROM POST OFFICES

Some of the public—but not enough—are heeding the warnings of the postoffice department that Christmas gifts must be mailed this year earlier than ever before, if reports from seven of the largest postoffices in the United States prove to be typical. Six of these offices, queried on Christmas mailings, reported that gift parcels had started moving through the mails from 10 to 12 days earlier than in previous years. The seventh reported some rise in parcel post but no broad gain in Christmas mailings. Christmas cards—one of the most difficult problems because of the public's habit of mailing them in a last-minute deluge—also have started to move, but in only small numbers.

BOND BUYERS MOVING TOWARD VICTORY GOAL

Clark Will, president of the Third National bank, said Tuesday that he had been informed that subscriptions to treasury securities offered in the $9,000,000,000 December Victory Fund drive throughout the nation now total $6,600,000,000. Although success in achieving the aim is indicated, he said, there must be no relaxation of efforts.

Mr. Will is unable to report Pickaway county's total at this time, the goal for the Victory Fund campaign here in December being $1,009,000. The banker has high hopes that the month's subscriptions will bring this total.

The December drive, he declared, will terminate at the close of business December 23 with respect to the three issues of securities, namely Victory two and one-half due December 15, 1943; one and three-fourths percent bonds due June 15, 1945, and seven-eighths percent certificates of indebtedness due December 1, 1943.

The sale will continue on the Series A and C Tax Savings Notes and the Series F and G United States Savings Bonds.

The treasury will accept subscriptions which are placed in the mails up to midnight of December 23, for the three issues on which the drive ends that day. The issue of seven-eighths percent certificates of indebtedness, as previously announced, will be open to subscription by commercial banks December 16, 17 and 18 for their own account, in the aggregate sum of $2,000,000,000, with applications from such banks in amounts up to $108,000 to be allotted in full, while larger applications will be subject to percentage allotments.

The funds raised through the drive, together with funds to be raised through the sale after January 1 of Treasury Bills, Savings Bonds, certificates of indebtedness and tax savings notes may enable the treasury to function until some time in March or April before another major financing campaign.

MOBILE BLOOD BANK UNIT TO VISIT COUNTY

Local Red Cross Chapter Completing Arrangements For Two Day Event

240 DONORS ARE NEEDED

Jaycees Will Assist In Plans To Help Save Lives Of Wounded Soldiers

Carl C. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway county Red Cross, announced Tuesday that arrangements are being completed for appearance of the Red Cross blood bank mobile unit in Circleville probably in February.

Notice has been sent to state Red Cross headquarters that the county has started to make preparations for handling the mobile unit and its crew of physicians and nurses. The mobile unit will be here two days, definite dates not yet being decided.

Mr. Leist appointed Hal Dean, assistant manager of the Ralston-Purina company plant, as chairman of a committee to arrange for the visit of the unit. Mr. Dean had already been designated by Junior Chamber of Commerce as its representative on any committee arranging the blood contribution. Dean expected to go to Columbus later this week to learn more details concerning required arrangements here.

The city must have 240 persons ready to give a pint of blood each during the two days the mobile unit will be here, Red Cross, working with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will set up a registration station for volunteers. Other names will be taken from the list of persons signed up for Civilian Defense work who have already designated their willingness to help build the blood bank which will be used over the world wherever American soldiers and sailors are in action.

The mobile unit is a complete hospital unit in itself. Nine physicians and nurses are assigned to each community with it. A modern headquarters must be established and a canteen will be prepared so that persons giving blood may receive proper nourishment for a while after making their donation.

After the 240 pints, or more, of blood are taken from citizens the blood will be sent to a processing center where it will be made into plasma. Already many lives have been saved on the battle front because of the Red Cross plasma supply.

THIS HUNGRY WORLD

THE worst thing in the world today, perhaps, is not even the fighting and killing, but the hunger caused by the war. Fighting men usually have at least this satisfaction, that they are comparatively well fed. It is the women and children and old men at home that suffer privation.

Almost everywhere on earth, except in this blessed New World, there is widespread and persistent hunger, and the weakness and disease that come with it. Britain is to some extent a notable exception, standing about midway between plenty and starvation. The people there have at least enough food to sustain them for essential work, but their hunger is never satisfied. In Europe and Asia generally, it is seldom that anybody gets enough to eat.

It is important to feed the armies, at least those engaged in a righteous cause. But perhaps it is even more important to feed the hundreds of millions of children who are growing up — when they do grow up — thin and emaciated, lacking vigor and a ready prey to disease. The things that American troops in the expeditionary forces tell about them are heart-breaking. With their usual generosity, the Americans give their own food to the children they meet on strange shores, and often go hungry themselves. But that is only an occasional drop in a sea of hunger.

Our government is right in shipping food to famished lands, for friends and foes alike, as rapidly as conditions permit. Food, more than anything else, is what the world needs today. The road of military victory is the way to square meals for all mankind.

WOMEN MECHANICS

AN army officer, weighing the question whether he should employ women freely as ordnance inspectors, expresses doubt as to whether women in general can "excel in manual dexterity" and endure the job fatigue of "repetitive operations." Or in plain English, whether they are clever with their hands and can stand monotonous jobs.

In reply, some more observant person gives him a little lecture on housework—the endless repetitions involved in cooking, cleaning, sewing, and so on, in most homes throughout the world. A rather obvious comment is that women seem to stand that sort of thing better than men do. Thousands of factories today, where women are successfully operating machines satisfactorily, seem to prove the point.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to find the temperature below zero for the first time this season and was not at all elated by the fact. Came a peal on the doorbell and answered to find a well bundled youngster seeking the job of sidewalk cleaning, which was promptly offered. Time came to settle and the kid declared he never set the price. "I tried for a time and always set the price so low that the people were surprised. Now, I let them set the price. I figure I am not much of a businessman." If that was not smart business then I never could recognize smart business.

Approximately a hundred gathered for breakfast. Birds. Come regularly twice a day snow or no snow all Winter. Didn't envy them their ventilated dining room, but they didn't seem to mind.

Mill and Mrs. Kellstadt read about necessity of sending Christmas presents early to boys in the service. Their son, Bill, is in the Fiji Islands, a long way off. So a box was prepared for him and mailed the first week in October. Then, Mrs. Kellstadt began to worry for fear the box might not arrive and Bill would have nothing for Christmas. She prepared a second identical box and mailed it. The other day she received a letter from Bill in which he wrote: "Thanks for the Thanks-giving boxes. They were grand. Send something good for Christmas, too."

Bill Kellstadt and Ned Plum entered Circleville Kindergarten at the same time, entered grade school together, and were graduated at the same time. Two years ago they enlisted at the same time for army training. Both were selected for military police duty. They were shifted from camp to camp and finally at Indian Gap, Md., were transferred to regular duty. They sailed together and are now serving together in the Fiji Islands.

Have you sent Christmas cards to the soldiers you know? If not, I suggest you do so at once unless you wish embarrassment. The youngsters already are sending out their Christmas cards. Several are on my desk, coming from such wide-spread places as Ireland and Honolulu. Irv Kinsey and wife received one from Benton McClurg, of Ashville, who is in India. I don't understand how, but the card was only three days in transit.

Got through the initial phase of gas rationing in fine style. Got a pleasant surprise, too. Former Neighbor Plum notified me that liability insurance on my auto had been reduced 20 percent because I have an A card. The cut is 10 percent for those with B cards. Certainly it is a glorious experience to find some-

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

ST. LOUIS SQUABBLE

WASHINGTON — Young Republicans, irked over the St. Louis GOP meeting, are pointing to what went on behind the scenes as an illustration of the major problem the GOP faces if it is to march back to Washington in 1944. It is the old, basic feud between isolationist-conservatives and progressive-interventionists.

Actually, the feud flared up inside the party several weeks before the National Committee meeting when Ezra Whitla, GOP Committeeman from Idaho, began lining up western leaders for the Chicago Tribune's isolationist candidate, Warner Schroeder.

This was what aroused Fred Baker, the 34-year-old Seattle youngster who almost won out over Schroeder. Hearing of Whitla's activities, and being dead opposed to any GOP back-track to isolation, Baker came east for conferences with Willkie, Herbert Hoover, Governor Bricker and Senator McNary. His proposal was to unite behind Oregon's National Committeeman Ralph Cake.

In the end, Baker so impressed leaders with his own enthusiasm and organizing ability, that they—including Cake—lined up behind him. And when the Cake-Baker contingent arrived in St. Louis they had almost, but not quite enough, votes to stop Schroeder.

SURPRISE BALLOT

The Schroeder contingent never realized this, however. On Saturday before the meeting opened they counted 58 votes in their pocket, and would not believe that any could be taken away.

Baker and his liberal-non-isolationist group caucused on Sunday morning. Even at that time some of them were ready to take Harrison Spangler of Iowa as a compromise, but the Schroeder isolationist forces were too cocky.

So when the balloting opened Monday they were knocked for a loop as Baker, the young man who came out of the west, rolled up 40 votes to Schroeder's 40. On the second ballot he went ahead to 43, Schroeder dropping to 38.

Both sides huddled after this, and a great emotional meeting took place on the part of the non-isolationists. Some were for fighting to the bitter end. Staunchest backers of Fred Baker were Bud Kelland of Arizona, Ralph Cake of Oregon, Walter Hallanan of West Virginia, Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Pennsylvania, Dan Whetstone of Montana, Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts, and Grace Reynolds of Indiana.

Finally they decided harmony was more important than a cut-throat battle and agreed to take the 62-year old Spangler.

Many Problems Involved in Diagnosing Types of Cancer

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT WAS in 1929 that the medical profession began a campaign through its local and state societies to educate the public in the early diagnosis of cancer as a means to lessen the mortality.

In 1935 Congress passed an act officially approving of these campaigns.

Some cases of cancer are in plain sight and easy to see, others are hidden and must be suspected from the symptoms. If the patient is to help the physician, he must know something about the signs and symptoms of all these groups.

The first group of cancers consists of those visible to the patient on the surface of the skin, lip or mouth. This is also probably the most frequent form of the condition and certainly we can expect the largest gain in cures in this group.

Any suspicious sore or roughing, wart or growth on the skin or on the lip should be examined immediately by a competent physician. Because they are in plain sight and can be seen by the patient himself, or members of the family, they should never become large or dangerous. Yet the statistics show that nearly 7,000 deaths a year come from cancer of this kind.

The hope of any cancer lies in its early recognition and prompt treatment.

The second group consists in those which are not on the surface of the body, but sufficiently close to the surface that they are accessible to examination. A lump in the breast is a good example of this and all such lumps should have the benefit of examination by a competent physician.

Forms of Treatment

Treatment is usually by a combination of surgery and irradiation. By irradiation, we mean either x-ray or radium. Other examples of this group are in the rectum and womb. These make themselves known by such symptoms as bleeding and pain, occasionally a pressure feeling, as if a growth were present. Any such combination of events calls also for an examination by a specialist. No one can make the diagnosis alone except in rare instances.

The third group consists in cancers which are internal in every sense of the word—those involving the stomach, bowel or kidney. Here the symptoms are unexplained weight loss, feeling of weakness or fatigue, pallor coming on suddenly in the midst of good health.

Annual Examination

In the great majority of cases the cancer comes on in middle age and rather after the meridian of life—more likely after 35, even more likely after 40, even more likely still after 50 and not so frequently after 60.

The ages to watch out for these symptoms then are from 40 to 60. Perhaps the best advice is to anticipate and go to your family doctor once a year for an examination. Such annual examinations and wisdom to prevent them from doing harm, but there is no question that if one is on the lookout for it, a good many cases of internal cancer can be detected by means in time to cure them completely.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE
By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

USE THEM SEPARATELY

IT IS important to be able to recognize when a declarer must use his trumps separately, for ruffing, instead of using two on a trick to draw out those held by the defenders. To count up a hand with extensive ruffing possibilities, you first add up the number of tricks available with high cards in the side suits and then pile onto that the number of trumps which can be employed one at a time. Always bear in mind that the defenders, if they sense your plan and are on their toes, may lead a trump at you whenever they can, thus making you use up two trumps on those occasions and cutting down by one the number of ruffing tricks.

Now the defenders made their slip. When the diamond J was led, West feared the old gag of such a lead from a K-Q-J combination and came in with his A. Having no trump to return, he led a diamond for a ruff by the heart 10. Then the club 10 was ruffed by the heart 7, the diamond 4 by the heart K, the club 9 by the heart K and the diamond 4 by the heart Q. East winced each time he had to under-ruff, as if his partner had played low when the diamond J was led, he could have won the trick and returned a trump, compelling the declarer to use two and beating his contract.

At another table South, after winning the trump lead to the second trick, also tried one round of trumps himself. When he shortly thereafter led a diamond, West let East win it and return another trump. There the contract was downed two tricks.

Your Week-End Lesson.

If your side has two major suits containing a total of eight cards each between your own hand and the dummy, which is usually the preferred choice as the trump? Why? Can you furnish an example or examples of the reason or reasons?

Embattled Love
BY LORENA CARLETON

SYNOPSIS

A chance meeting in the San Francisco fog leads to a spur-of-the-moment marriage in Reno by PAIGE SHELTON, whose sweetheart has just been killed fighting for the Allies, and RESTWICK (RUSTY) CARNES III, wealthy descendant of early Hawaiian settlers. Rusty marries her to spite the girl he thinks he loves, EUGENIA NORTH, his selfish fiancée.

YESTERDAY: Paige discovers the stolen jewels in her purse, deduces that Rusty put them there during the dance on shipboard the previous night.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

A CURIOUS little pang went through Paige when Rusty said he did not want to go to his house; but she managed to murmur, "It's quite all right."

"Oh, Rusty," wailed Abby, "I thought you'd be at your house. I'd planned on doing a lot of back-fence visiting with you all before I sail on the fifth." Her little elfin face rustled with disappointment. "Tooby!" she concluded.

Both Paige and Restwick Carnes burst into hilarious laughter. The man said, "A fine influence you are for Choppo. He's influencing you."

Abby persisted, "But, Rusty, you have such a beautiful new home to take a bride to."

"My!" Rusty changed his wording. "The bride understands."

"Yes, I understand," the girl thought with bitterness. "I understand two things. If I were Eugenia, Restwick Carnes would want me in his home; it is the natural feeling for a husband. But he wants to keep me away from his intimate life. I understand also that Eugenia is at the Royal. No doubt Rusty made sure of her accommodations at the same time he attended to her cabin reservations."

The girl heard him say in an exasperated voice, "This is not the usual marriage, Abby."

"You're telling me."

Rusty spoke to the woman's chaperon, who turned at the next corner into the shaded curved driveway of the Royal Hawaiian and stopped beneath the porte-cochere. Rusty started to say something else, but speech was stopped by surprise. His mouth hung open. Abby also was flabbergasted, for the uniformed attendant was ignoring them to stretch a hand toward Restwick Carnes' wife.

"Miss Shelton—I'm so happy to see you again," he said with welcoming intensity. "Aloha! Aloha!"

In response to the Hawaiian boy's enthusiastic greeting, Paige accepted his outstretched hand and shook them, then bent her head for the lei he was giving her.

"Aloha, Malu, and thank you."

"How is your father, Miss Shelton?"

The girl's face lightened and she made a brittle recitation, "I don't have my father now." She kept her eyes pried open to kill the tears that had burst into them at the sight of Malu's sympathy. "I shouldn't have looked at him," she thought. "I shouldn't have done it. I should have bitten my cheek and looked at nothing, the way I usually do."

To relieve the moment, Abby said, "Hello, Malu."

"Hello, Mrs. Tyson." The round-faced doorman was not smiling now as he put a lei about the shoulders of the other-faced Abby and on Restwick Carnes. He also managed to get one on Choppo, a difficult task, as the little boy was hopping on one foot in a kind of targetless hop-scotch.

Rusty, completely silent up to now, spoke through his curiosity. "Paige has me now, Malu. She is Mrs. Carnes."

"That's nice," the Hawaiian boy said politely.

Restwick Carnes took his wife's arm with one hand and the stunned Abby's with the other. Choppo was well in advance as they moved up broad steps and into the lobby. In fact, he had reached Milnor's extravagant shop and was peering into the display windows, helped by a sticky-fingered, double-hand pressure on the gleaming glass.

In the lobby Rusty released both women. Abby did not bother to chastise Choppo immediately. She pursued, in a half-voice, her insistence that Rusty take his new wife to his house. "You've no right to make me so lonely." She walked over and snatched, belatedly, Choppo's hands from the shop window.

Rusty moved toward her. "Darling, I'm having a brainstorm. Why don't you, and if necessary, the embryonic thug, move over here? Then you'll be close to us. Send your driver home for clothes and we're all set for a big celebration."

"Beg me, Rusty." Totally ironic, her remark, for she was heading toward the desk. She grabbed a fountain pen and asked the desk clerk, "Where are Mr. and Mrs. Carnes? I'd like to be next to them."

The clerk was apologetic. "I'm so sorry, Mrs. Tyson, but both adjoining rooms are taken."

"Oh well," she said, busy with pen, "just put me as near as possible. I do hope," she gurgled, "that my dear friend Eugenia North is in one of the rooms."

"Yes, she is, Mrs. Tyson," the clerk said happily.

Abby turned to run a cold eye up and down Restwick Carnes. "Humph!" she finally granted, then added imperiously, "Rusty, take Choppo down to the arcade shops and get him some swimming trunks. Then take him swimming. She ignored his groan. "Paige and I will go to our rooms for a while. She'll want to change into something cool." Her funny little face had trouble staying immobile as Rusty, with glaring reluctance, approached the youngster, who was just as glaringly reluctant. He seemed slightly overpowered by the tremendous stalk of rhubarb-colored torch-ginger he was holding.

"Abby," beseeched Rusty in a righteous tone, "he's already snatching the hotel decorations. I saw him take it out of that basket."

Abby only smiled. "You know Choppo adores flowers. Meet us in an hour in the outdoor bar." She continued to smile her sugar-coated smile until Rusty gave up. He pushed at the boy's shoulder and headed him toward the arcade stairway.

Just then, from her place near the desk, Paige saw Eugenia and the Brazilians getting out of a taxi. But, instead of coming to-

Today's Horoscope

Today's birthday children are vivacious, dependable and possess keen, absorbing minds. They are fine talkers, express their ideas concisely, and have a talent for teaching. They are fond of travel and enjoyment. Reserved and modest, they are yet very capable. Strangers or elderly relatives will aid them in the next year, and secret business affairs, especially if concerning martial activities, will prosper. They should, however, beware of love intrigues which foretell disillusionment. On the whole, children born on this date will be successful, old people and those connected with the Army proving most helpful. Piatonic friendships should be avoided, however.

STARS SAY—

For Tuesday, December 15

THE ASTRAL indications are for a very active and strenuous day in both public and private affairs. Initiative and enterprise may experience dramatic and surprising turns, coming probably from strange or peculiar sources, with elders and superiors intervening. There may be danger from intrigue and dubious strategies, especially imperiling contracts, writings or other important papers. A similar curious condition may develop in romantic or emotional associations, which it may be wise to shrewdly circumvent. Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a lively and eventful year, with many strange or curious experiences or adventures. In difficult or intriguing situations it would be advisable to seek the wise council of elderly relatives or even strangers, who may have novel strategies to suggest. Extreme care is recommended in the signing of all papers, contracts or documents, of both personal and business nature. There are signs of estrangements or disillusionments.

A child born on this day should be gifted with much energy and initiative. Its major enterprises may secure help from elders and strangers.

Provocative Lace

The straight but comfortably wide skirt of this two-piece black thread lace frock is worn over a black petticoat; the four-pocketed jacket is lined throughout with black chiffon. Lace-covered buttons.

LACE, whenever it is passably good quality and well handled by the dressmaker, is always provocative, and the best lace in the world is a mess if it isn't treated well, to a good design. Here a most unexpected tailoring lends new beauty to a classic black lace, the result a formal afternoon or restaurant dinner suit in step with current fashion notions. A famous woman who is making a whirlwind tour of South America on a writing mission this winter has taken this dress in her airplane suitcase.

Bowling Green Cagers Unpopular, But Speedy

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—Along the Ohio sports trail today we find... Bowling Green, apparently blacklisted by Ohio Conference members, is leading the Ohio college basketball field with five victories against no defeats.

Wyndel Gray, freshman from Akron, is the star of the Falcons, having scored 110 points in the four games in which he has appeared for Harold (Andy) Anderson, the coach who put Toledo university's basketball squads among the national leaders.

Toledo university, where Burl Friddle, formerly of the South Side high school of Ft. Wayne, Ind., has taken over the coaching reins relinquished by Anderson, ranks second with two wins and promises to again be one of the nation's leading cage teams.

Although six of eight members of last year's Toledo squad have graduated, the squad is made up of boys having imposing high school records. Bob Bolyard played on Ft. Wayne's Indiana high schools champs; Robert Donaldson was on the Washington, Ind., state high school championship team; James Glass also is from Ft. Wayne's championship team and Charles Harmon is from Washington, Ind. Ohio boys on the squad include William McClain from Bellevue and Gene Miller from Mansfield.

Dale Hudson, high scoring forward on Wooster College's basketball squad, will be lost to the Scots at the end of this semester, December 22. He will complete pre-medical requirements at Wooster then. Last season, Hudson, who played his scholastic basketball at Marion Harding high, scored 257 points last season.

Chet Mutryn, 21-year-old Xavier university grid star for the last three seasons, has accepted an invitation to play in the Blue-Gray intersectional football game at Montgomery, Ala., on December 26. A Cleveland boy, Mutryn is in the Naval reserve and as a member of the "North" team will be under the direction of Lynn Waldorf, football coach at Northwestern university.

COOPER RATED BEST PITCHER

Cardinal Star, Flop In World Series, Sets Splendid Mark

By Jack Mahon

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—The biggest flop in the world series, Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals was revealed today as the best pitcher in the National league in 1942! Cooper started 35 games, more than any other twirler and compiled an earned run average of 1.77 per game, the lowest since the great Carl Hubbell finished the '33 season with mark of 1.66.

Mort won the most games, 22, and pitched the most shutouts 10, to equal a record set by King Carl in '33. All this led to a terrific buildup for Mr. Mort in the world series. He started two games—and was knocked out of the box in both!

The world champion Cards swept both top honors, the National league averages released today also revealed their rookie of the year, Johnny Benzel, leading the loop with 21 victories and six defeats for a league-leading percentage of .778, and ERA of 2.13 runs per game!

Cooper finished second in the percentage department with 22 wins and seven defeats for a .759 percentage. Curtis B. (Curt) Davis of the Brooklyn Dodgers was third in earned run efficiency with an average of 2.36 tallies per game though he could finish no better than fifth in games won and lost.

Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds (.743) and Bill Lohrman of the Giants (.747) were the next two most effective hurlers in the earned run department with the latter finishing third in games won and lost. Vandy ranked No. 7 on the latter list.

Whitlow Wyatt won 19 and lost seven to finish fourth in that group with a mark of .731, but was no better than eleventh in the ERA list.

A new league record was set during the year when Ace Adams of the Giants appeared in 61 games, displacing the old mark of 56 established by that Giant of yesteryear, Christy Mathewson, and equaled by Hugh Mulcahy of the Phillies in '37. In finishing 49 of them, the ace broke Dick Coffman's mark of 35 set in 1938. In addition he failed to complete a single nine inning game, surpassing a record of 53 appearances of a similar nature established by Clyde Shoun of the Cards in 1939.

MAJOR LEAGUES MAY CUT DOWN SPRING TRAVEL

Harridge Given Information By ODT Concerning Cut In Transportation

LESS TRAINING LIKELY

Camps In Far West, South May Be Abandoned By Baseball Clubs

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—Possibility that Major League baseball teams will have to curtail their Spring training programs still further was seen today in information received by Will Harridge, president of the American league.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, told Harridge he had consulted with Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, and that while Eastman was not ready to make definite suggestions at this time, there appeared to be a likelihood that the big league clubs would be asked eventually to train closer to home.

If it is found necessary in the interest of relieving the railroads still further of the burden of civilian travel, it might mean that the clubs which now train at distant points, as in California, Florida and Texas, would have to abandon these spots for camps nearer home.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, and James T. Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs, said today they had not made any change in their plans to train in California, although they had lopped much mileage from their original schedule of training trips.

They do not plan to go into training until the first or second week of March and they believe there will be ample time to select other training camps at the February meetings if this is necessary.

FLAHERTY GIVEN STAY TO COACH REDSKINS OUTFIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Lieut. Ray Flaherty, coach of the Washington Redskins, today was on a two-weeks furlough from the navy to prepare his pro football champions for their meeting with the pro all-stars December 27 at Philadelphia.

Flaherty was to have reported to Hollywood, Fla., today for duty in Comdr. Gene Tunney's physical fitness program, but a postponement was made at the behest of Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission. The Philadelphia game will be played for the benefit of the United Seamen's Service.

Five members of the Redskins team, Dick Todd, Cecil Hare, Ed Justice, George Watts and Ed Beiner, are scheduled for induction into the services before the game, but an effort will be made to postpone their time of reporting so that they may take part in the contest.

Most of the Redskins left town for their homes today for a rest. They will arrive in Philadelphia December 23 for four days of practice before meeting the all-stars who started working out in Shibe park today.

TIGERS INVADE HILLSBORO GYM FOR SCO GAME

Circleville high Tigers, bumped off in their first three efforts this year, go into action again Friday on the Hillsboro court. The Indians are led by their two grid hussies, Gerald Bumgarner and Gerald Davis, the former playing forward and the latter center. Hillsboro was victorious last week over Wilmington in a 35-33 game.

Coach Roy Black's boys may hit their stride on the next couple games, the lads getting a little more confidence as they go along. The Tiger varsity is comprised entirely of boys who played last year on the reserve team and some of the present varsity did not even make the reserve team a year ago.

Coach Black will take 15 boys to Hillsboro.

Farmers of County Facing Big Problems for Next Year

SOLUTIONS TO BE SOUGHT BY LOCAL AGENCY

F. K. Blair Makes Plans For Increased Extension Work In 1943

ACUTE LABOR SHORTAGE

Machinery Wearing Out And Repair Parts Fall Short Of Requirements

Despite certain problems which are bound to impede rather than speed an agricultural program, F. K. Blair, Pickaway county extension agent, declared Tuesday in his annual report that "the outlook for conducting agricultural extension work in 1943 is good."

"With increased knowledge and understanding of the war time problems," he wrote, "agricultural leaders and agricultural organizations will be in a position during the next year to direct their efforts in a unified way toward solving problems that are certain to arise in the next year."

Mr. Blair pointed to a labor shortage on farms which he says will be a real handicap to capacity production. He declared that farm machinery has gone through another hard year of usage and that it will not be as efficient as in 1942. "Repairs and replacements will not take care of the worn out machinery under new quotas established by the War Production Board," Mr. Blair said.

Must Conserve Trucks

Transportation of farm commodities to and from market will get its severest test in 1943. Unless the 600 farm owned trucks, he warned, are kept in running order there will be a shortage of transportation facilities before the end of the year. He pointed out that many of the trucks now in operation are 15 years old and older.

The county agent cited also restriction and shortage of all types of farm material such as fencing, wire, building materials, electric motors, electric wire, tools and other items as certain to handicap production.

"However," he said, "keeping up the morale of the rural people under the present mental and physical strain is a problem of equal importance to that of keeping up the morale of our fighting forces. Without the full cooperation of farm people in the production of food and fiber out civilian population and our armed forces will be short of food and clothing."

Work Summarized

In summarizing his work during the last year, the county agent declared that some form of agricultural extension work was conducted in each of 15 townships in the county during 1942. More than 400 men and women took part in P. T. A., Granges, Farm Bureau, Dairy Cooperative, Livestock company, Grain company, business firms, AAA, Farm Security, Farm Credit administration, banks, civic clubs, Chamber of Commerce, Farmer's Institutes and a number of other groups.

In conducting the extension program, the agent reports 530 farm and home visits, 1,341 office calls, 1,192 telephone calls, released 150 news stories, distributed 672 farm bulletins and contacted more than 12,000 persons through meetings and conferences.

Three hundred and sixty boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H war time projects, conducting 12 community achievement meetings, one county 4-H club camp and promoted a county 4-H exhibit and livestock sale.

Nine Institutes

Nine Farmer's Institutes were conducted with a total attendance of 8,000 persons. The county-wide Corn and Soybean show attracted an entry of 152 samples of corn and beans. One good will meeting was promoted between Circleville Chamber of Commerce and farm organizations and another similar meeting was promoted by the Rotary club.

Kiwanis club's assistance in financing four calves for rural boys was noted, as were canning demonstrations in every community.

A Neighborhood Leader system was organized for distribution of War Information to every neighborhood in the county. Three hundred and fifty leaders are organized to carry out any important service necessary to the successful prosecution of the war.

In his review of general conditions Mr. Blair declared that county farmers had produced a record crop of farm products in 1942. He pointed to the fact that records were set despite the fact that many men have gone into the army and many others have entered defense jobs.

Agricultural extension work in Pickaway county has been developed around projects essential to the war effort. Emphasis has been

DUNHAM URGES PUBLIC TO BUY HEALTH SEALS

"To avert a threatened increase of tuberculosis is the aim of 88 county-wide tuberculosis and health associations in Ohio," said Dr. Kennon Dunham, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Public Health Association, urging purchase of Christmas seals throughout the state.

"This year's Christmas Seal sale is particularly important," said Dr. Dunham. "On public health agencies and tuberculosis associations falls the responsibility for building and maintaining the health and productive power of the men and women at the machines, as well as the general public. Illness takes time and money that could be used for war production. Tuberculosis is only partially conquered. The ground that has been gained must not be lost. Seal sale dollars are needed for this job."

Dr. Dunham called attention to the fact that only means of financial support for the health groups will be through the Christmas Seal sale.

placed on projects that contribute most of the food and fiber supply of the nation.

"Included in the program," he reported, "has been extra projects that deal with such items as salvage, scrap collection, fire prevention, share-the-meat program, rationing, transportation, and other projects all of which might be classed as war time activities."

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

youngest son of staunch Republican Senator Bob Taft of Ohio, with whom Farley does not have a great deal in common.

Young Horace Taft has a hobby of collecting autographs from famous men whom he has interviewed himself. Among these are all the cabinet members of the Roosevelt administration, including, when he was Postmaster General, Jim Farley.

Most cabinet members, busy, were polite but brief with young Horace Taft then aged 12. But when he called on Jim Farley, Jim engaged him in conversation, wanted to know how he had started his collection. Horace explained that he had inherited from his family a collection of all the autographs of the Lincoln Cabinet, and he wanted to add the Roosevelt cabinet members to the list.

Farley commended the idea, but added: "Horace, why don't you make a separate collection of autographs of men you have not interviewed personally. Now I get around a bit and I could help you. I'll send you some."

Young Horace was elated. But at home his family suggested that Mr. Farley, a busy man, might forget.

About a month later, however, 81-year old Horace Taft, brother of the late President Taft and uncle of Senator Robert Taft, got by mistake a letter from Jim Farley enclosing some autographs and asking how he was getting along with his new collection. Uncle Horace sent the letter on to his 12-year old nephew. And even to this day, young Horace still gets a letter every month or so enclosing autographs from Jim Farley.

AN ABLE-BODIED CRIPPLE

Governor Pierre Boisson, who has delivered Dakar into U. S. hands after the British tried for months to get it, is one of the most able-bodied cripples in the history of France. Boisson has shrapnel wounds in his body, only one leg, and is partially deaf.

But he can hear well enough to recognize the words, "Allons, enfants de la patrie!" And this was the sentiment which prompted him to hand over the harbor and airport facilities, plus units of the French fleet at Dakar.

Boisson typifies the latent spirit of France now rising up to fight beside the U. S. A. He is only 48 years old, was wounded repeatedly in World War I, was taken prisoner, sent to Switzerland among the "grands blessés" (severely wounded). There he was nursed back to health by a pretty French girl who today is Madame Boisson.

Reason Governor Boisson resisted the British-Free French attack against Dakar in September, 1940, was the same reason he had for capitulating in December, 1942. He believes that France should stand unified, not to be broken into dissident elements. Thus, he opposed General De Gaulle whom he felt was causing a split in France, and on the other hand, welcomed the Americans and quotes our own motto: "United we stand, divided we fall."

For some time Boisson has worked closely with U. S. officials in French West Africa, who checked all reports of German activity there. It was the strong pro-American and anti-British sentiment of the French colonies, as expressed by Boisson, which resulted in the decision to land an American rather than a British force in North Africa.

Though loyal to Pétain, he regards the aged premier as a prisoner of the Germans, who must be driven out of France. Like Darlan, Boisson hates the British, but he hates the Germans far more.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Republican Judge Homer Ferguson, who defeated Senator Prentiss Brown as the new Senator from Michigan, has a place all warmed for him on the Truman Committee. . . . Walter Cary of Detroit, whose personal plugging helped to elect Judge Ferguson, already talks about running him for President. . . . Marine Corps men and officers, finding their overcoats fallen to the check room floor while Army and Navy coats still hang, wonder why their Quartermaster General doesn't put straps or chains inside the collar. . . . New lyric heard in the Navy Press Room: "I Left My Gal on Guadalcanal."

Shetland islands constitute a county of Scotland, and are about 100 in number. Of these, only about 30 are inhabited.

Takes Mate's Job

When her husband, a watchmaker, went into the navy, pretty Mrs. Jane Lester asked jeweler M. Z. Holland, of Chicago, for a trial at the job of watch repairing. After a short time, says Holland, she became an expert. She's shown at her work table.

KIWANIANS HEAR DISCUSSION OF SCRAP SALVAGE

Kiwanians heard an interesting talk and participated in an informative forum Monday evening when Julius Gordon of the Circleville Iron and Metal company spoke at Hanley's tearoom on the scrap salvage program. He stressed the importance of scrap, and urged Kiwanians to do everything they can to keep the scrap collection program going.

"The county has done a splendid job under Dan McClain and Herman Hill, salvage committee chairmen, but this work must go on. The need for salvage continues," he said.

Gordon told the Kiwanians to never let a pile of idle scrap in a school yard or at a public building worry them. "Start worrying," he said, "when you don't see any scrap anywhere. Then there is something to worry about."

Most of the Kiwanis club members reported their sales of tickets for the high school football banquet scheduled next Monday evening. Several members are still to report.
